

Angel Fuzzies

- I heard angels can make beautiful music. I am going to practice with my little trumpet. How do you like my little wings? Neat!!!
- I once saw a movie where the man sang a song "catch a falling star...". I am going to catch a few falling stars and put them back where they fell from.
- Mr Ben and I are going to ring the bells, at least I think little angels must ring bells. Oh oh, I am now a bit confused. Let me go and ask mommy first if I can take my bell with me.
- I am going to sit on my floating little cloud all day long and play for all the little birds that come to visit. I think they will enjoy singing to my music.
- I am Dolly and I always wanted to be a star in Hollywood but if I can catch a genuine little star I will be the only actress with a genuine star. Oh, I will be so famous.
- And if I can learn how to play with this bugle, I can also join the other little angel fuzzies in making music. If only I knew where to I blow to make a sound?
- I do not know how to play a harp. It has so many strings I am very confused. I hope they won't mind if Bunny and I play with the banjo and sing. When I am a bit bigger mommy said she will put strings on my banjo.
- He he. I always wanted to play with my bow and arrow but mommy always said it is too dangerous. Now is my chance!! He he he. By the way, do you know any one called Cupid? I think the bow belongs to him.
- I have always dreamt of sliding on the rainbow. I think it will be as soft as my pillow. I don't think angels can fall off something because they have little wings so I can play without holding on to anything.
- If the moon is not made of cheese, I think it will make a perfect bed. I think it will be so soft I can sleep in it. And I can look at the morning star. I am glad I have my favorite blanky with me.
- We are the twins and we want to be part of the group that makes the heavenly music. If only my brother was not so stupid to take the large halo. I told him to take the small one but he always knows better. Now his halo is skew and he does not even know how to play the harp. He says an angel is supposed to know how to play it. Duh!! And although I can't play any instruments I am going to dance on my little cloud, grab a star and make my own sparkles.
